Framebridge Chooses Frederick County, Virginia, for New Manufacturing Operation

Framebridge to hire for a mix of full- and part-time positions at their new Framing Studio

July 22, 2024 - Winchester, VA Framebridge, the leading direct-to-consumer custom framing company, has selected Frederick County, Virginia, for its new manufacturing operation. The new Framing Studio is located at 155 Aviation Drive in Winchester. This is the second East Coast manufacturing hub for the ten-year-old company who has an additional studio in Richmond, Kentucky.

When the Framing Studio is fully operational, Framebridge employees will custom build frames to meet customer specifications and then ship to both customers' homes and 28 retail locations on the East Coast and Texas. The Studio will employ 65 employees with a mix of full- and part-time team members.

"I am so encouraged by the warm welcome and the tremendous talent Winchester has to offer," said Parker Burton, General Manager of the Winchester Studio. "I see so much opportunity in this community! If you are a person who has a keen attention to detail, a background in art (or passion for art), we are hiring for positions that are responsible for creating and producing our custom frames for custom art. If you are an individual with a manufacturing background, we are hiring for positions responsible for warehousing & light machinery. We are thrilled to be here and thrilled to introduce Framebridge to Winchester!"

"We are excited that Framebridge has chosen to grow its operations in Frederick County," commented Patrick Barker, CECD, Executive Director of the Frederick County Economic Development Authority. "Their artistic focus adds further depth to our diverse manufacturing sector. Frederick County's location, and strong transportation network, will allow Framebridge to efficiently reach its customers and retail locations across the U.S. and beyond."
